1 Samuel 20:14-15 ESV

If I am still alive, show me the steadfast love of the LORD, that I may not die; [15] and do not cut off your steadfast love from my house forever, when the LORD cuts off every one of the enemies of David from the face of the earth."

Oprah Winfrey once said this: "Lots of people want to ride with you in the limo, but what you want is someone who will take the bus with you when the limo breaks down."

This is very true, when we think about where we are in life and when we think about how the Lord has blessed us we should never forget that we have had friends along the way that have been blessings to us! We should never forget those that have treated us well, that have been kind to us, that have been loyal to us, and that have helped us overcome many things by being there with us!

If you have had those kinds of friends you should treasure them, and you should never forget those people that have been loyal to you. Loyalty is a commodity that we should never forget, but we should always treasure those that have been loyal to us especially when we know we have been hurt, we have been wounded, or we have been in crisis but we have had loyal friends show up for us.

That is what matters in our lives that we have those real friends! When we have real friends we know that we have been blessed, we have been helped, and we have been cared for! Think about that prayer partner, think about that person that helped you with finances or medical issues, don't forget those friends that have been there for you every moment!

Real love can't be taken away from us, and as long as we have those real people in our lives we need to treasure them every day! God is good!
